PROPRIETORS BEE HIVE

A POLITICAL MAUD MULLER.

Bill Bryan on an autumn day, in Canton, Ill., was making hay—Making hay for the day was fair. And the fair committee brought him there. Down to the depot rushed the throng, And so Bill Bryan went along. McKinley's train came rolling in, And Bryan met it with a grin.

His grin was wide and blithe and sweet—It occupied the entire street.

It rippled with a glad surprise, And echoed in his twinkling eyes.

And, 'mid the music of the band, He reached out with his horny hand.

(His horny hand, with calloused palm, Made so by many a gesture calm,

As well as by sawing the gentle air To emphasize a point most rare:

For the only work his hand had done Was to rake in the fair committee's "mun.")

And, as he felt McKinley's clasp, "How are you, Bill?" they heard him gasp.

"How are you, Bill?" the President Replied, as o'er the rail he bent.

And soon McKinley's speech was o'er, And he was riding on once more.

Bill Bryan looked and sighed: "Ah, me, That I the President might be.

"I should be glad and free from care, And I should shake the country fair.

"I should not have to mark my place, And stop till after the next race.

"But I could talk, or I could not, Just as I liked," so Bryan thought.

"I would not be," he mused some more, "Embazoned on billboards galore,

"Along with heaps of fancy fruit, And yellow pumpkins, too, to boot.

"The bills would not, in letters big, Say 'Come and See the Giant Pig.

"And Ride the Merry-Go-Around, And Eat Your Lunches on the Ground.

"And hear the Canton Brass Band Toot, Likewise, Bill Bryan Eloute."

"They would not sandwich my best thought "Tween heats of the two-forty trot."

And then the fair ground's wooden walls Stretched away into stately halls:

The fair committee, heavy set, Turned to a statesman's cabinet:

The sea of faces round the track Became a Congress at its back;

And for a moment, heart elate, He dreamed he steered the Ship of State.

But he looked at the fairground fence again, Sadly sighing, "It might have been."

STILL ON TOP!

The Republican State Ticket Undoubtedly Elected.

LEGISLATURE IS ANTI-GOEBEL.

In their desperation the Goebelites are trying to keep up their courage by sending out fake telegrams claiming the election of Goebel.

The Republicans undoubtedly won at the polls, and they propose seeing to it that the vote is counted as it was cast.

Late last night the following telegram was received in this city from Hon. Sam H. Stone, State Auditor, who is a member of the Republican Campaign Committee:

LOUISVILLE, Ky., November 8th. A. M. J. Cochran: Republican state ticket surely elected. Legislature anti-Goebel. SAM H. STONE.

The Election Commissioners for Mason county—Messrs. Stairs, Lovel and Wadsworth—are engaged in counting the vote of the county as THE LEDGER goes to press, and the official result will be published tomorrow.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands who think themselves ill that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a positive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all Druggists.

LEWIS COUNTY

Figures Show That She Stood Nobly By Wm. H. Cox.

MAJORITIES SATISFACTORY.

The ante-election guesser is the best "predictor" in the basket.

There was no end to the long line of pessimists who knew to a gnat's heel that Lewis county was going to knife the candidate for State Senator, "simply because he was a Mason county man."

THE LEDGER combatted this idea, and it is now pleased to present the "majorities" received in the several Precincts of that county; and considering the fact that Mr. Cox's Democratic opponent was a clever gentleman and a Lewis county man, and that his race had a strong local bearing in several Precincts, it will be seen that the Republicans of Lewis did their duty nobly and well.

The "majorities" are as follows:

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Was That Celebrated Yesterday Afternoon at the Church of the Nativity.

FARNSWORTH-ADAIR NUPTIALS

"Because I love you, Because I love you, My heart is thine Because I love you."

Maud Wadsworth Adair, arrayed in her bridal toilet standing at the sacred altar of the Church which she loves, surrounded with stately chrysanthemums vying with the camelion dahlias, evergreens and candles, amid a coterie of friends, was not only a beautiful girl, but with that self-possession and grace which is womanly, charming and winning—a jewel of rare price and an amulet bound to bring her husband that happiness and success which crowns life and makes heaven a reality.

The beautiful little Episcopal Church yesterday afternoon was filled with a company of friends, relatives and neighbors, which had assembled to witness the marriage of Robt. Atwell Farnsworth and Maud Wadsworth Adair, the former of Scranton, Miss., and the latter a fair, cultured and beautiful girl of our city.

The King's Daughters Society of the Church had most artistically decorated the interior of the sacred edifice with holly, chrysanthemums, dahlias and roses, in and out glowing candles spread their rays to meet the more brilliant rays of the gas, which together made the scene a brilliant picture frame in which the real actors in so important and solemn a happening would soon stand.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the organ gave forth its melodious notes as expressed in the immortal Wedding March of Lohengrin, most deftly played by Miss Blatterman, and with measured step the procession moved from the vestibule towards the altar—Mr. J. Banks Durrett and Mr. W. Henry Wadsworth, Mr. Frank Owens Barkley and Mr. Harry C. Curran, Miss Sallie Whitaker as Maid of Honor and the bride upon the arm of her father, Mr. George W. Adair.

Meeting at the steps of the porch the Rev. D. D. Chapin and the groom and his best man, Mr. Hughes Moore of Louisville. Here the betrothal ceremony was sealed with the ring, and ascending the steps, crossed the porch and knelt at the altar-rail where the prayer of blessing and the pronouncement were made, then kneeling received the blessing of the reverend Divine. All the while that exquisite song, "Because," floated out and in soft tones wooed all hearts and twined with purest love about the altar. Mendelssohn's March measured time for the exodus of the party, which entering carriages were driven to the C. and O. train, which conveyed Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth to Scranton, Miss., their future home.

The groom is a true Southerner, rich, handsome and hospitable, and shows his exquisite taste in the selection of a bride who as wed yesterday was queenly and beautiful. Her toilet was a rich white organdie with Valenciennes lace insertion twined lover-knot fashion over the skirt, the ruffle of which was accordion-pleated taffeta. Her veil was of tulle and showered from the center of her head to every point of her gown.

The presents were very handsome and elegant indeed.

NEWS NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The steamer Rescue of the Tallahatchie line recently sunk at Longview on the Yazoo river, a port about forty-five miles North of Yazoo City. She had only recently been rebuilt, and was valued at $5,000. The Rescue was launched from St. Louis docks in 1894, and run for some time in the Kentucky river trade from Louisville.

The following Kanawha boats down with coal: Jessie 19 pieces, Convey 9, George Matheson 9, Otto Murrett 10, Mount Clare 9, R. K. Wells 4, Eagle 11, Gate City 9, George W. Morelock 12, William Ernest 10, Annie L. 9, H. B. Spillman 12, J. H. McConnell 9, E. H. Andrews 10 barges and 3 flats, W. B. Calderwood 10, D. T. Lane 15, Winifrede 5.

The Charles Barnes Company of Cincinnati will furnish the new shaft and flanges for the steamer Avalon. Mr. Barnes said that Captain Cramer, the owner of the Avalon, had decided to dispense with the staggered wheel on the Avalon, and try an old-fashioned wheel on his boat, as he considers the breaking of the two shafts on the Avalon largely to the character of the wheel.

Captain John M. Phillips, master and principal owner of the steamer City of Pittsburgh, arrived at Cincinnati from Pittsburgh Tuesday morning, and made arrangements at once for the Pittsburgh to go to Portsmouth. Her boilers were pumped up and she left there at noon yesterday. Pilot W. F. Ross took the Pittsburgh up the river. She will receive her new boilers before she comes out again.

The following Pilots have been assigned to their respective towboats for the coming season: W. W. O'Neil, Bob Boles and George Clark; Smoky City, Tom Patterson and Jim Martin; Defender, W. R. Haptonstall and John Pearce; John A. Wood, Al Faulkner and Sam Wood; Alice Brown, Henry Nye and Arthur Lyons; Joe B. Williams, Lute Moore and Frank Lindsey; Tom Rees, Hen. Lindenberg; Transporter, Bob Houlden, Sr., and Ben Stout. Tom Martin has gone to Greenville to go on the Resolute.

Once again are the streams of the Pittsburgh vicinity falling, and the fall has brought back the same condition of stagnation in river circles as has prevailed since last spring. A few boats are still due from lower river points with empties, but aside from that there is little doing. The steamer Virginia got away at 4 o'clock Monday for Cincinnati with an excellent trip of passengers and freight. The steamer Bertha is still operating at the gates at Davis Island Dam. But few boats have passed through, owing to the heavy fog that hovered over that city all day Monday.

The present rise has caused the combine to pay all the men taking out boats from Pittsburgh wages based on the new scales, and there is no prospect of a strike. This applies to Pilots, engineers and firemen, and boatmen claim practically removes all prospects of trouble with the river coal combine, when a regular coal shipping stage comes. The firemen are again working and have obtained the advance asked for; at least the men working are being paid the new scale. Boatmen apparently are well satisfied by the way in which the combine has treated them, and are now anxious and eager for a big rise which will make busy times in river circles.

Change of Season is Here.

The well-clothed man smiles at the freaks of climate, because he is fortified against the chills of early winter.

The market is full of clothing—always will be,—but when it comes to the new, stylish, well-made sorts they are scarce, and this season the house that did not buy correct styles early is simply "left at the post."

Light-Colored Worsteds

In Plaids, half-Plaids and Checks are a few "warm things." Then it is the shape next—short, natty, fullback sacks with high-cut single-breasted and double-breasted vests. Trousers right up to the fashion-plate, and the prices—our prices, $10, $15 and $20.

In Topcoats

Our purchasing power, coupled with our selling-power, (we buy and sell more clothing than all the other clothing houses in Maysville combined) enables us to get the best at prices other houses pay for
